```
                                {
msg.atm_queue.send(withdraw_denied());
                                }
                            }
                            )
                        .handle<get_balance>(
                            [&](get_balance const& msg)
                            {
                               msg.atm_queue.send(::balance(balance));
                            }
                            )
                        .handle<withdrawal_processed>(
                            [&](withdrawal_processed const& msg)
                            {
                            }
                            )
                        .handle<cancel_withdrawal>(
                            [&](cancel_withdrawal const& msg)
                            {
                            }
                            );
                }
             }
            catch(messaging::close_queue const&)
            {
            }
        }

        messaging::sender get_sender()
        {
            return incoming;
        }
};
```

Listing C.9. The user-interface state machine

```
class interface_machine
{
    messaging::receiver incoming;
public:
    void done()
    {
        get_sender().send(messaging::close_queue());
    }
    void run()
    {
        try
        {
            for(;;)
            {
```