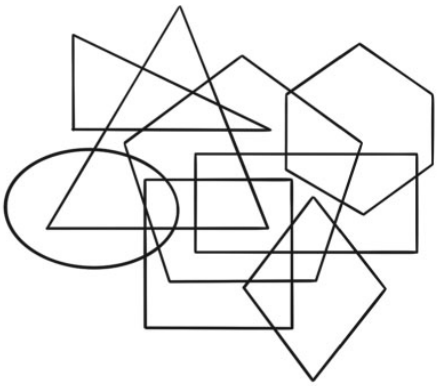
3 Did you find them all? Try this one. You’re looking for a rectangle, a diamond, and a perfect pentagon.



Game science

It’s hard for your brain to separate the outline of a shape from the other lines all over it. However, some people are better at this than others. This kind of game is sometimes used as a test to find out how analytical people are. If you have a very analytical brain, it means you’re good at picking out and understanding pictures, patterns, and rules.