

2 Set the game up so that the players can’t see each other’s grids. For example, you could sit opposite each other at a table, with a cereal box between you.

3 Each player now draws five boats on their first grid, in random places.

