

6 To play, put a missile in the bowl of the spoon, aim, and fire! How many can you score?

Game science

This game involves a kind of mathematics called ballistics. You have to calculate how far to pull the spoon down to make the missile fly the right distance and hit the target. As it flies, it will sail through the air in a curve called the ballistic trajectory.