MONEY PILES

This is a similar game, but you have two piles of coins instead of one.

1 Split your coins into two separate piles. The piles don’t have to be the same size.

2 To play, each player takes turns removing some coins, as in Subtract a Square. But the rules are different:

- You can take any number of coins from one pile or both piles.
- If you take coins from both piles, you have to take the same number from each pile.
- The winner is the one who takes the last coin.
