

2 You also need 64 counters. Each counter must have a black side and a white side (or a blue side and a red side—or any other combination).

Make your counters by cutting circles out of two shades of card and sticking them together.

3 The players choose black or white, and they take turns putting a counter on the board their way up.

How to play