BACK TO BACK

A split-second game of high-speed mathematics!

What do you need?

- A chalkboard or whiteboard (or you could tape some paper to the wall and write on that)
- Chalks or markers
- A calculator

This game works best with a large group of 20 people or more, such as your class! But you can play it with as few as three.

How to play

1 Choose two players to play against each other. They have to stand back to back, facing away from each other, in front of the wall or board. The rest of the group sit facing the board, so that they can see what's on it.
