3 Once they’ve chosen it, the other players take turns asking questions about the number. They could make a guess, such as:

Or they could ask a more general question, like:

4 Each time, the chooser answers the question and then marks the grid to show which numbers it could or couldn’t be. For example, imagine that the question is “Is it under 30?”