If each person has their own small grid, they do the crossing out or circling numbers themselves.