TRAFFIC POINTS

This is a game for playing when you’re on a car trip and feeling a bit bored. You can also play it while you’re walking along a road or even just looking out of a window.

What do you need?

- Just your eyes and brain!

One or more people can play (but not the driver—they should concentrate on what they’re doing!).

How to play

1 Each type of red vehicle on the road has a number of points. You can make up your own points system, or use this one:
