- Emails are a good communication method under the following conditions:
    - They allow people to opt into your email reports.
    - They give the least amount of data needed and reference a dynamic dashboard.
    - They establish the right cadence.
- Showing distributions as well as stats allows you identify anomalies at a glance and remove them when appropriate.