Preview

- The function $f(x) = x^2$ is a parabola that opens upwards.
- Its derivative, $f'(x) = 2x$, is a straight line that passes through the origin and slopes upward as x increases.

The conversation was started by asking the GPT to teach the basics of calculus.

Let's generate this plot:

The GPT can also generate plots to demonstrate concepts, such as showing the function and its derivative.