

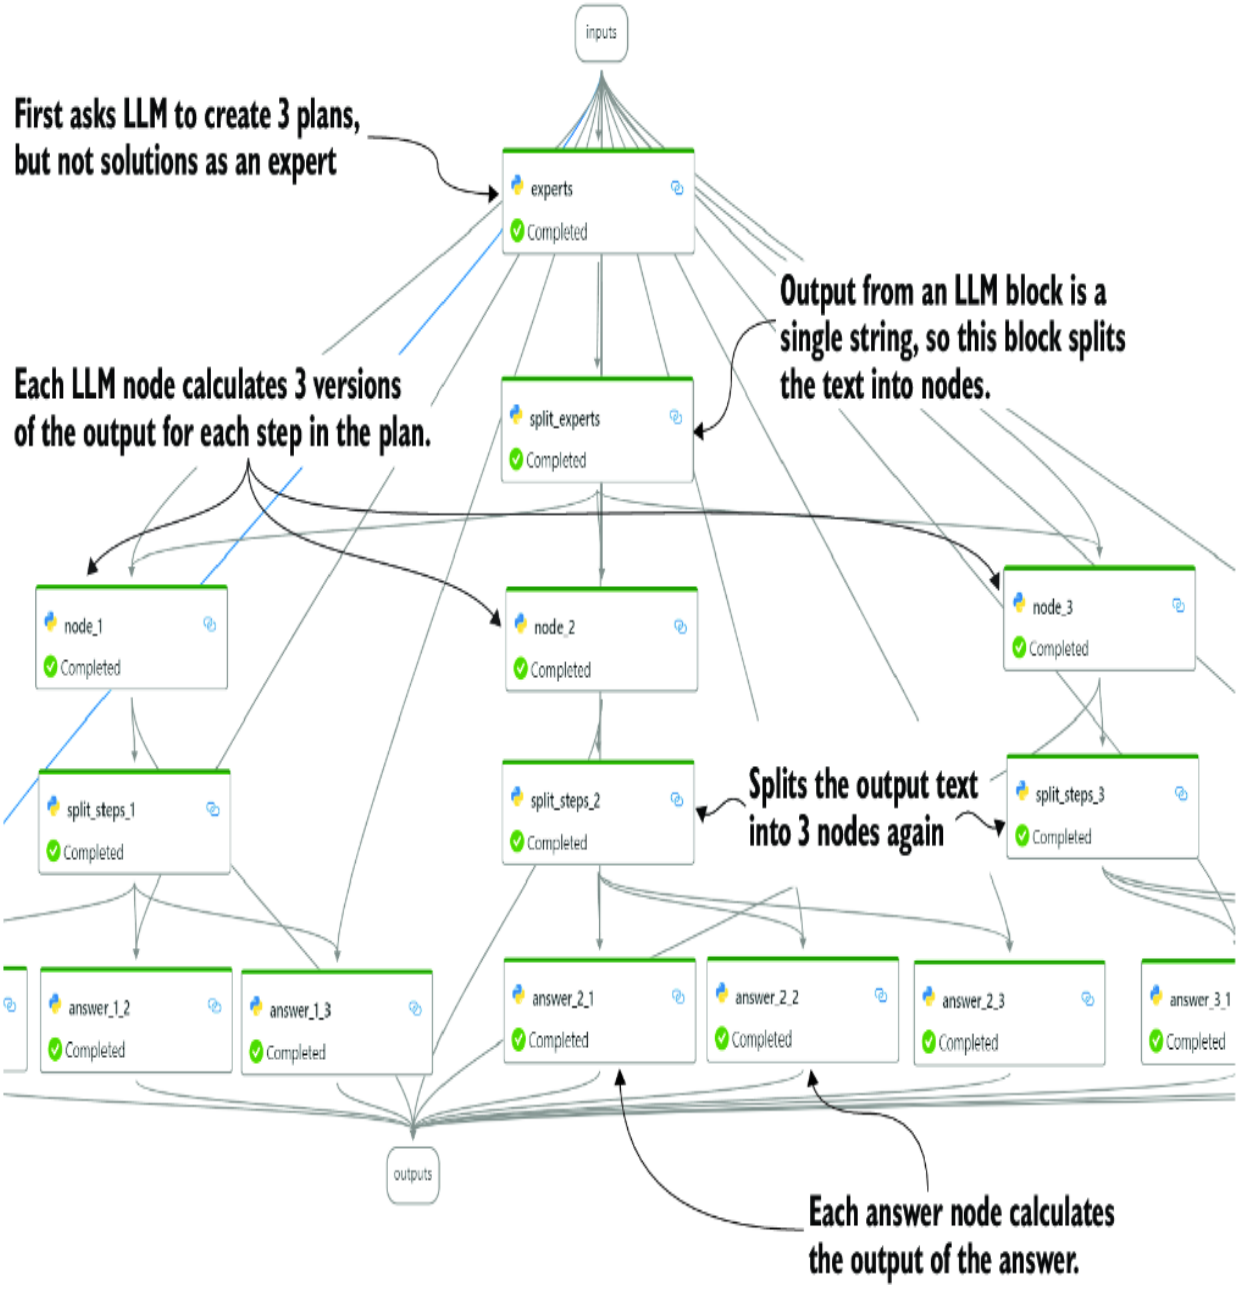

Figure 10.11 ToT pattern expressed and prompt flow

Because the flow executes in a breadth-first style, each level output of the nodes is also evaluated. Each node in the flow uses a pair of semantic functions—one to generate the answer and the other to evaluate the answer. The semantic function is a custom Python flow block that processes multiple inputs and generates multiple outputs.