

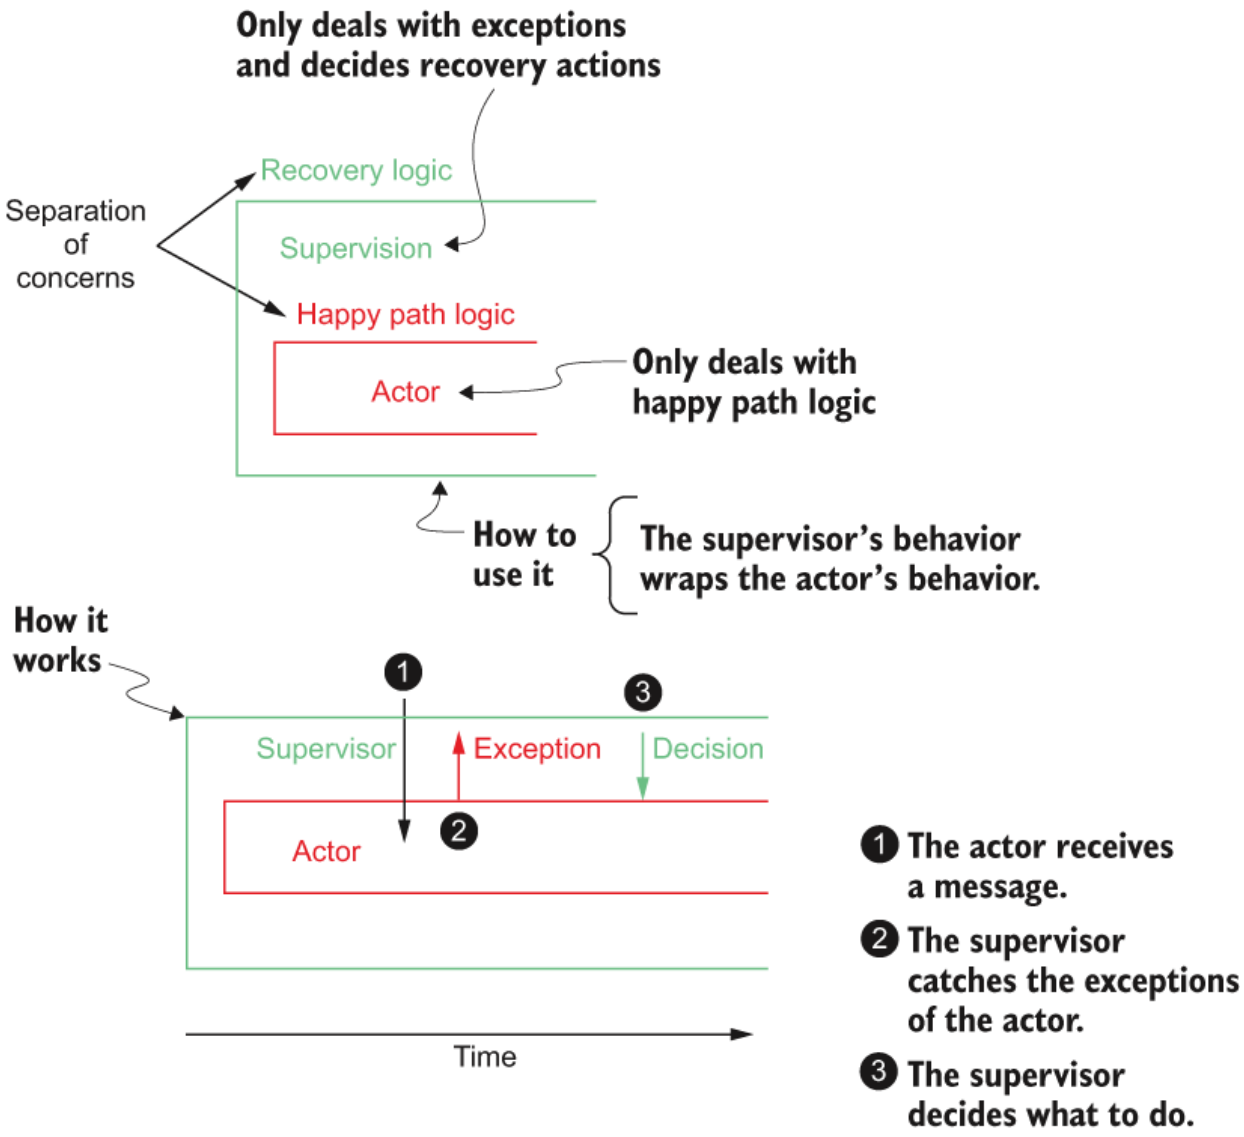

Figure 5.6 Supervisor wrapping an actor's behavior and deciding on a recovery action after an exception

A supervisor not only catches exceptions but also uses the exception to decide what to do with the faulty actors it supervises. The supervising behavior does not attempt to repair the actor's state; it decides what to do with the faulty actor by triggering a predefined strategy. The supervisor has three options for deciding what to do with the actor: