

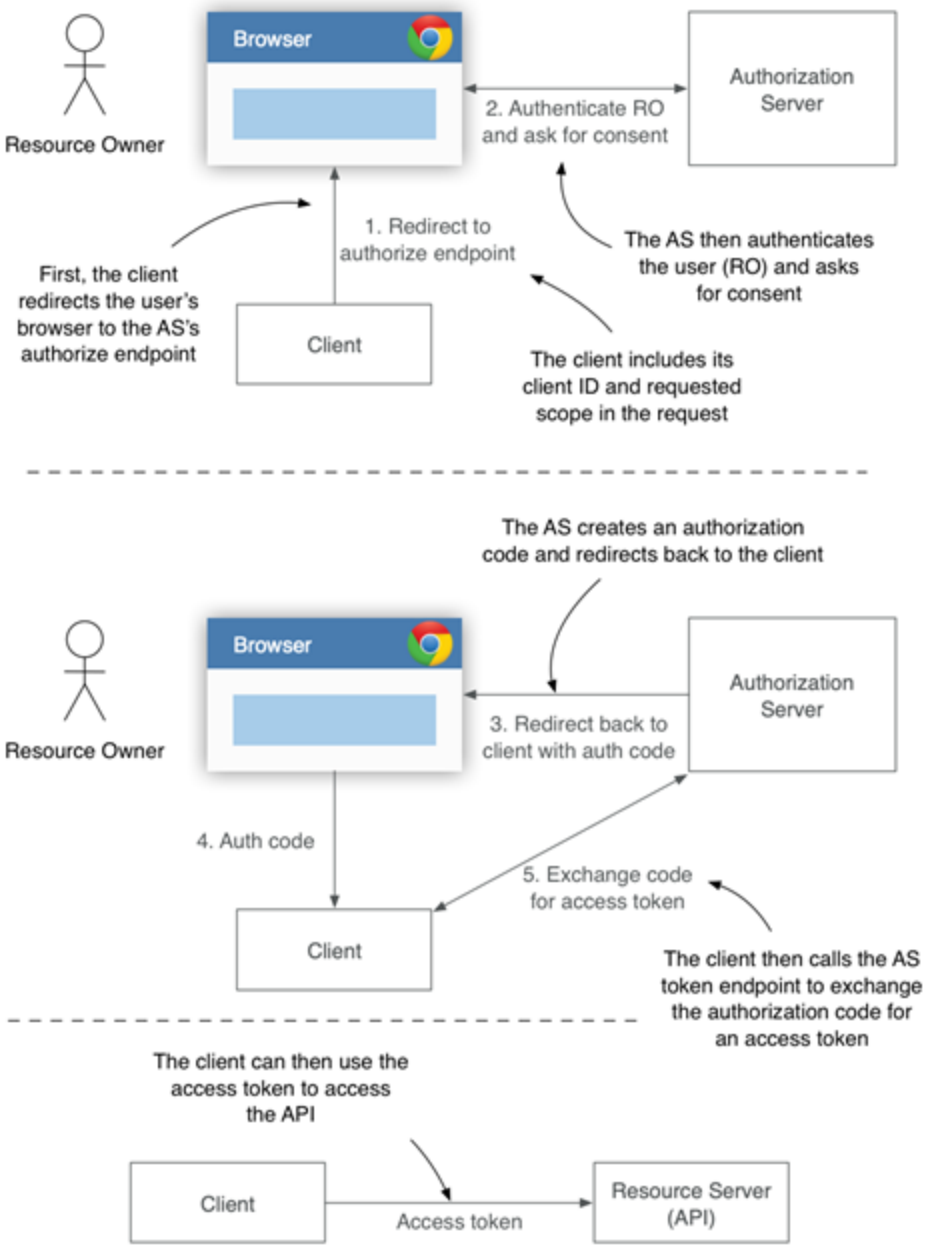

Figure 7.5 In the Authorization Code grant, the client first redirects the user's web browser to the authorization endpoint for the AS. The AS then authenticates the user and asks for consent to grant access to the application. If approved, then the AS redirects the web browser back to a URI controlled by the client, including an authorization code. The client