You can't rely on the ViewStart file for setting the parent layout file in a child layout. The ViewStart file has no effect over layouts within its folder or subfolders. Nested layouts can enable some valuable scenarios in which you have additional content you want to display for a subset of pages, for example, which you would apply to the child layout.
