the author can take place. It is not a commitment to any specific amount of participation on the part of the author, whose contribution to the forum remains voluntary (and unpaid). We suggest you try asking him some challenging questions lest his interest stray! The forum and the archives of previous discussions will be accessible from the publisher's website as long as the book is in print.

about the author

Mike Brind has been developing web applications using Microsoft technologies since 2004, starting with classic ASP, before moving on to the Web Forms framework, and then to MVC and ASP.NET Web Pages. These days Mike works mainly with ASP.NET Core, focusing on Razor Pages. He has blogged extensively about the Razor Pages framework at https://www.mikesdotnetting.com and maintains a tutorial site dedicated to Razor Pages at https://www.learnrazorpages.com. Mike is an 11-time recipient of the Microsoft Most Valuable Professional (MVP) award for his community contributions in sharing his knowledge of ASP.NET.

about the cover illustration

The figure on the cover of ASP.NET Core Razor Pages in Action is "Femme de l'Isle de Nootka," or "Woman of Nootka Island," taken from a collection by Jacques Grasset de Saint-Sauveur, published in 1797. Each illustration is finely drawn and colored by hand.

In those days, it was easy to identify where people lived and what their trade or station in life was just by their dress. Manning celebrates the inventiveness and initiative of the computer business with book covers