

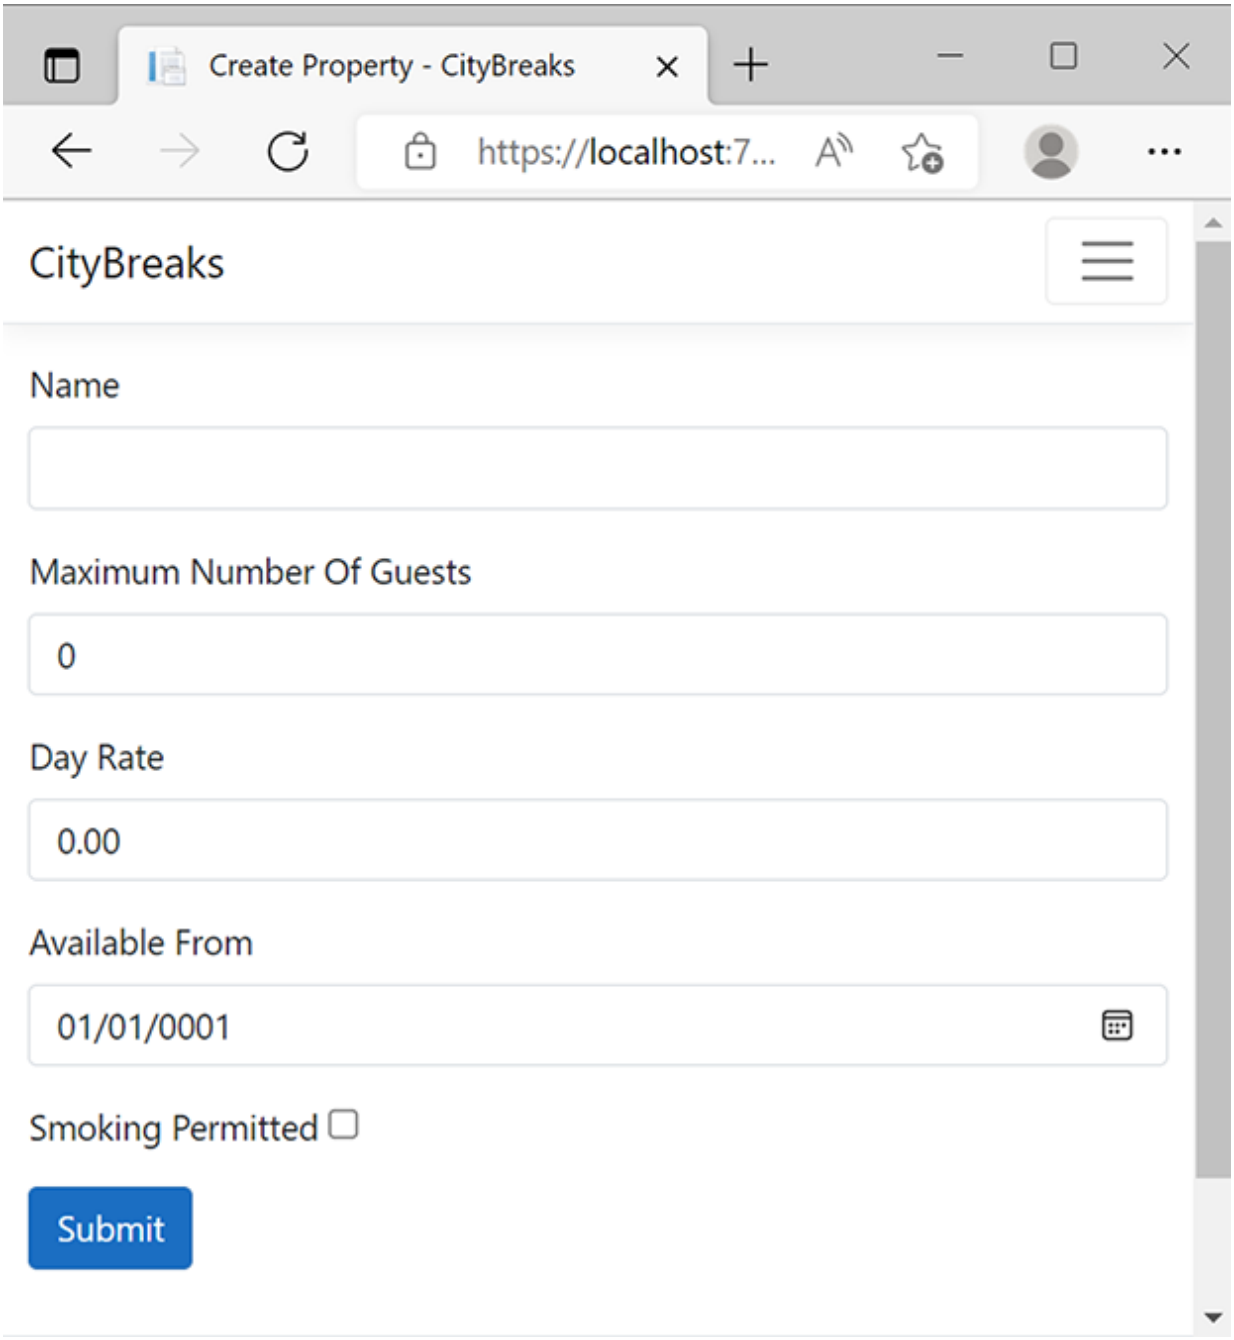

Figure 6.5 Data annotation attributes are used to manage the label and input presentation.

This completes our look at basic input and label tag helpers. In the next sections, we will focus on the select tag helper used to present a range of