(`CustomValue1`), and the remaining state values are added to the `Scope` property. You will likely find the dictionary approach the more useful of the two, as the added properties are more easily filtered on, as you saw in figure 26.12.

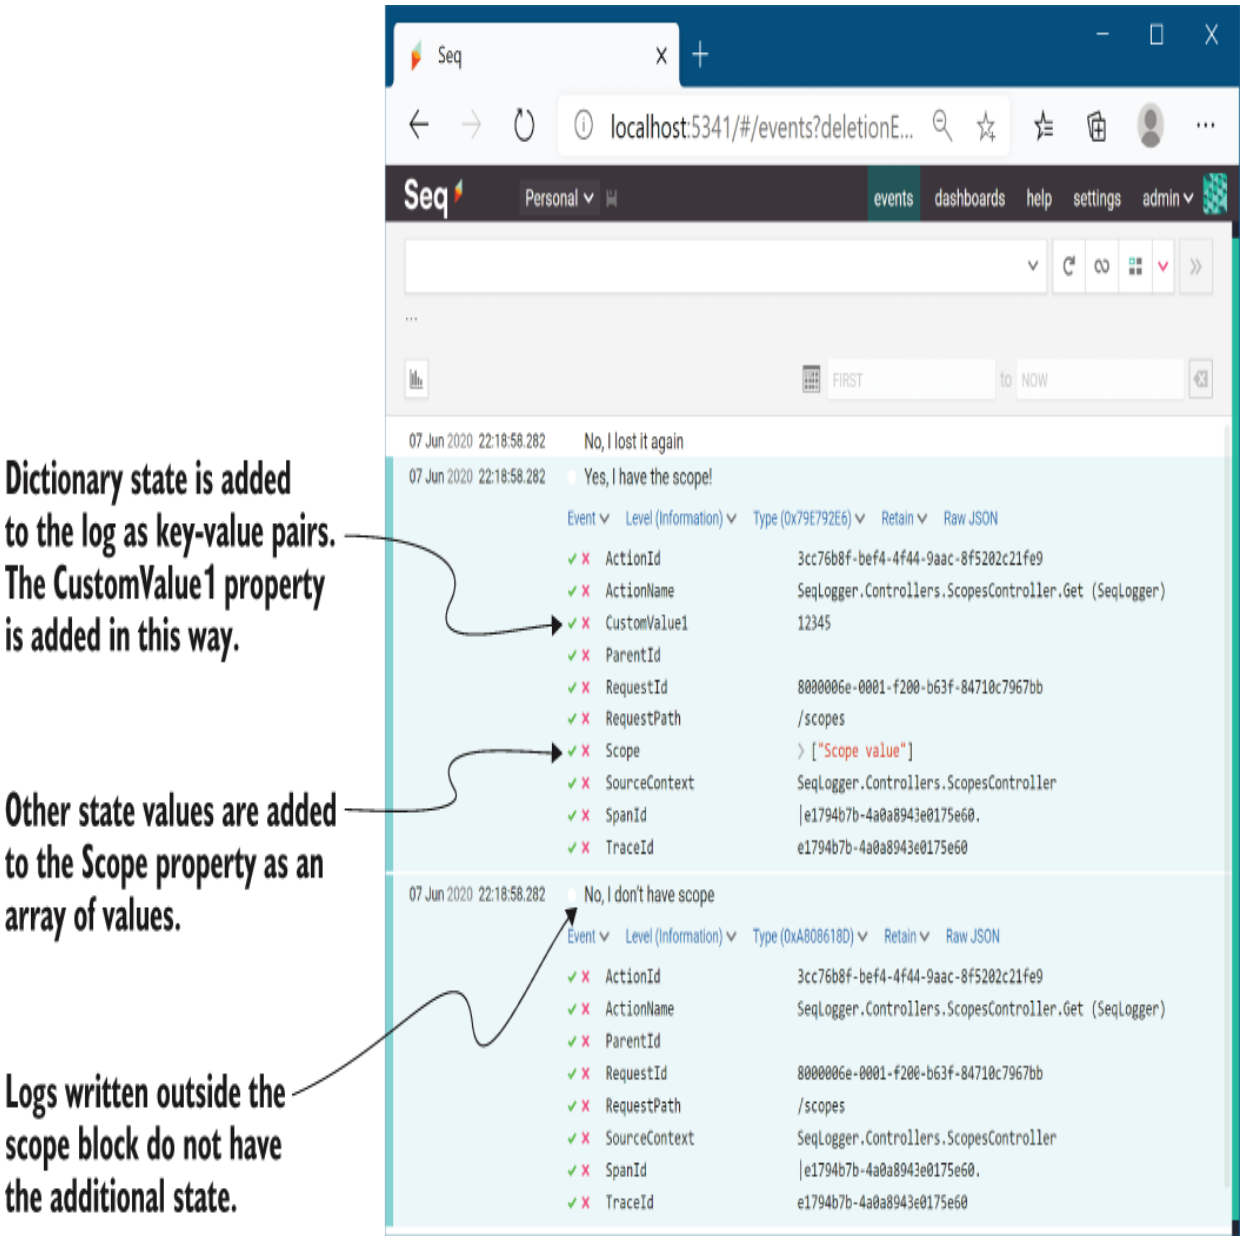

Figure 26.13 Adding properties to logs using scopes. Any scope state that is added using the dictionary approach is added as structured