automatically, regardless of whether they were generated by an endpoint or from other middleware.

