- Razor Pages should inherit from the `PageModel` base class and contain page handlers. The routing middleware selects a page handler based on the incoming request's URL, the HTTP verb, and the request's query string.
- Page handlers generally should delegate to services to handle the business logic required by a request instead of performing the changes themselves. This ensures a clean separation of concerns that aids testing and improves application structure.