These paradigms can be useful for building rich, dynamic websites, whether they’re e-commerce sites, content management systems (CMSes), or large n-tier applications. Both the open-source CMS Orchard Core[1] (figure 2.4) and cloudscribe[2] CMS project, for example, are built with ASP.NET Core.