

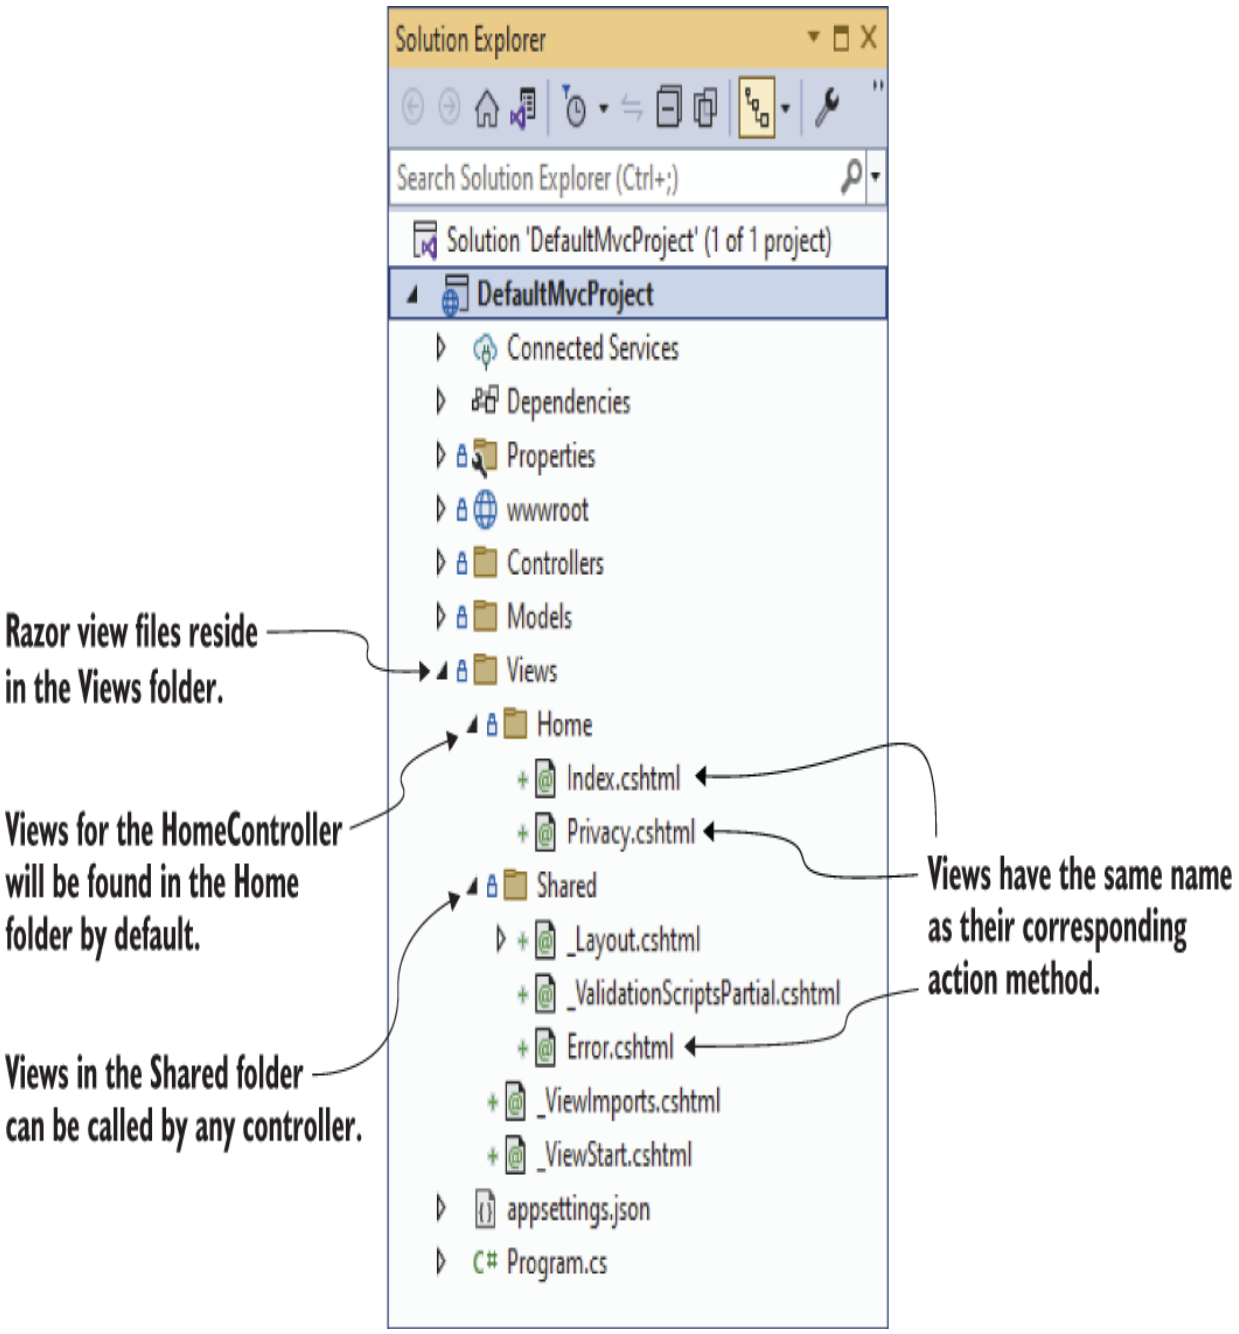

Figure 19.6 View files are located at runtime based on naming conventions. Razor view files reside in a folder based on the name of the associated MVC controller and are named with the name of the action method that requested them. Views in the Shared folder can be used by any controller.