- Design choices such as omitting regular expressions and loops make policies easier to audit, verify, and maintain, especially when using static analysis tools like Cedar Analysis.