- Clear policy ownership and separation of concerns reduce friction among security, operations, and product teams.
- Zero Trust improves governance by clearly defining organizational intent through actionable policies.
- Progress toward Zero Trust is assessed across various dimensions, not via a linear maturity model.