accessing ACME Health systems may use mobile wallets that support either DID-based credentials or OpenID4VC-based credentials, responding to presentation requests via QR codes or browser redirects, depending on their workflow. ACME's verification layer is designed to accept all these inputs. What changes is the user experience and transport mechanism, not the structure or meaning of the claims or their role in policy evaluation.