The example also highlights how the relationships established by the identity system are foundational to the promises and features that the system makes.